Engagement

RDCRS believes that engaging with our community (staff, parents, students, and community members) provides an authentic way in which everyone can have a role in supporting student achievement, well-being, and faith formation in our school division.

Both the Board of Trustees and Division Leadership Team value this stakeholder engagement and work to garner multi-facets of engagement data as part of the Division's strategic planning.

Engagement of our community occurs through multiple approaches working to triangulate our data and focus our work on a variety of key priorities. Community members are able to provide feedback on a range of issues, concerns, and topics. This work includes:

- Annual Division Survey (Schollie): Run every year for staff, students, and parents. This survey provides perspectives on how the Division is doing regarding our Strategic Plan with a specific local context. The survey provides both system-wide and school-level results that are used to inform planning on both levels.
- Alberta Education Assurance Survey (AEA): As part of the Assurance Framework, Alberta Education surveys teachers, students, and their parents/guardians. This survey gathers information on the quality of education provided by RDCRS examining specifically: Education Quality; Citizenship; Parental Involvement; Welcoming, Caring, Respectful, and Safe Learning Environments; Student Learning Engagement; and, Access to Supports and Services.
- First Nations, Métis, and Inuit Student Voice Panel: Composed of students from across our division and at various grade levels, this group provides feedback to inform the development of Division resources and policies, and supports for our Indigenous students and their families.
- School Councils: Schools engage with families through school councils which provide opportunities for dialogue around school operations, school plans, and budget, as well as ongoing dialogue regarding student growth and achievement.
- Collaborative Conversations: These conversations bring together school leadership teams and senior administration around strategic topics for school improvement. Feedback from the conversations help to inform the next steps needed to support our students. These conversations inform future planning at the school and Division levels.
- Boundary Development Consultations: These conversations provide trustees, school, and senior leadership with the opportunity to reflect on the wishes of the community and share and learn with each other. Through these consultations, trustees are able to gather information, notice trends, and bring back their observations to the administration related to key topics and programing areas.
- Teacher Think Tanks: Teachers are provided the opportunity to come together from across the Division around a strategic topic. Feedback from the conversation helps to inform the next steps in support of students and set Division direction. Examples of recent topics include draft curriculum, and counseling.
- Education Plan Collaborative Development: Senior Administration met with school leaders to develop and finalize goals for the Division Education Plan based on localized context and to foster the ability for schools to align school improvement plans with the Division Education Plan.
- RDCRS Connects: We utilized this platform to seek feedback from community stakeholders through the Re-imagining RDCRS and Draft K - 6 Curriculum Feedback Projects.
- Local School Activities: Activities such as Meet the Staff, celebrations, and family nights allow families to share feedback informally.
